What Paul Teaches Us About the Charisms

by Kay Murdy

Everything we claim as our own flows from God's graciousness. The Greek word is charis, which is used in the New Testament for the "grace" or "favor" of God to heal and save us. The gifts that come from the Spirit are called "charisma," free expressions of God's charis toward us, which enable us to be channels of God's charis to others.

In 1 Corinthians 12, Paul uses the analogy of the body to teach us how the charisms unite the Church, which is the body of Christ: "For just as the body is one and has many members, and all the members of the body, though many, are one body, so it is with Christ" (12:12).

Paul emphasizes that unity does not mean uniformity. Just as every part in a body has a role to play, there are a variety of gifts that function differently within the Church. These gifts come from the Spirit, and are given, not for the glory of the individual, but for the "common good" (12:7).

In Chapter 12 of 1 Corinthians, Paul uses the generic term pneumatika for the "spiritual gifts" (12:1), as a corrective to an overemphasis on a few gifts by the 'super spiritual' Corinthians. In verse four, the word charisma is used for the "gifts" of the Spirit. In verse five, the word diakonia signifies the variety of "services" that Paul attributes to Christ. In verse six, energema are the "activities" or "works" of God the Father whose power (energy) is manifested in the world in visible ways.

In verses eight to ten Paul lists nine examples of the Spirit's manifestations:

GIFTS OF GRACE (charis) The power to speak, sometimes called Word Gifts - Prophecy, Tongues, Interpretation of Tongues.

❖ Prophecy is God's message spoken through an individual to the community. Prophecy does not necessarily mean predicting the future. Paul says the purpose of prophecy is for the "upbuilding and encouragement and consolation" of God's people (14:3).

❖ Tongues (glossolalia) are God's messages spoken through an individual, which must be interpreted for the good of the community. It is akin to the language of lovers, or of a parent to a child. Yielding to tongues opens us up to receive and use the other gifts.

❖ Interpretation of Tongues is the ability to interpret (not translate) a message given in tongues into the vernacular. Tongues along with interpretation amounts to prophecy.

GIFTS OF SERVICE (diakonia) The power to know-Wisdom, knowledge, discernment. These gifts are the ability to express and understand various aspects of God's nature or plan in a manner that brings effective results.

❖ Wisdom is the facility to offer a solution to a problem or to give insightful teachings that opens the hearer to God's wisdom.

❖ Knowledge is the ability to clearly communicate God's word or doctrinal truths, or to know how God is working within an individual or in the community at a particular time.

❖ Discernment is the capacity to know whether a gift or inspiration has at its source the Holy Spirit, is of human origin or of evil influence. Paul says that the Spirit always bears witness to Jesus (12:3).

GIFTS OF WORKS (energema) The power to do - Faith, Miracles, Healing. Jesus' preaching was always accompanied by cures, miracles and deliverance that led the people to faith and enabled them to experience as well as hear the good news.

❖ Faith is a supernatural infusion to know with full certainty that God will bring something about. (Charismatic faith is not the same as the virtue of faith with which we receive our salvation in Christ.)

❖ Miracles are God's supernatural interventions into the natural realm to demonstrate divine power. Miracles help strengthen faith or bring about faith.

❖ Healing is the manifestation of God's power to restore a person's spiritual, psychological, or physical well-being. This may be instantaneous or gradual, and often through the use of natural means.

These are not all the charisms illustrated in the New Testament. They are also found in Romans 12 and Ephesians 4. At least 27 gifts are listed covering a broad range from gifts like prophecy and healing to teaching and almsgiving. Charismatic gifts are as important for the Church today as they were in Apostolic times. These gifts work to bring unity, to empower, and serve the Church's needs.

The Church has declared: "Whether these charisms be very remarkable or more simple and widely diffused, they are to be received with thanksgiving and consolation since they are fitting and useful for the needs of the church" (Dogmatic Constitution on the Church, #12).

Paul stresses the fact that no one has all the gifts (1 Cor. 12:29-30), but each person should be open to manifesting any gift at any time. He exhorts us to "strive" for the gifts and not to suppress them (14:1, 39). We must widen our expectations and try not to limit what God can do through us. We need to adopt the attitude of Mary: "Be it done unto me according to your will." Paul says the effect of the gifts upon unbelievers should lead them to say: "God is really among you" (14:25).
